SUMMARY

Engineer who writes and operates production Go: a server-side event collection service feeding multiple ad platforms, memory-optimized hot paths that helped halve cloud cost, and ETL on Nomad. Kept 99.9% uptime with on-call duty, and migrated MySQL to ClickHouse for 100x faster queries. Technical Project Lead, remote with a Paris-based team.

EXPERIENCE

Technical Project Lead

Jan 2026 – Present

The Quantic Factory · Paris, France (remote)

- Own reliability and delivery for 5+ production data workstreams, coordinating priorities and deadlines for the team.
- Led an infrastructure redesign and benchmark programme (direct ClickHouse ingestion, queues, HA Nomad clusters) under a 20x load scenario; defined a “cost per million events” KPI.
- Built SQL/ClickHouse validation that catches event-volume anomalies and identifier gaps before customer impact.

DataOps & Site Reliability Engineer

Jan 2024 – Jan 2026

The Quantic Factory · Paris, France (remote)

- Built a server-side event collection service in Go, containerized and run on HashiCorp Nomad, that processes analytics events and routes them to multiple destinations (Meta, Google Ads).
- Rewrote hot production paths in Go to cut memory use, contributing to a 50% GCP cost reduction.
- Built custom Go-based ETL on Nomad; sustained 99.9% uptime including on-call and overnight pager duty.
- Built observability (Fluentd, Elasticsearch, Graylog, Grafana, Prometheus) across 100+ daily jobs, cutting MTTR by 65%.
- Migrated MySQL to ClickHouse with zero downtime: 100x faster queries on 10M+ records.

SELECTED PROJECTS

Server-Side Tracking Service, Go (2024). Event collector and router on Nomad feeding Meta and Google Ads; basis of the company's attribution pipeline.

Open source: debug-practice-go, pulse-sre. Go alerting utilities and queue packages with tests and a written debug report (github.com/khalilrez).
